February 16, 2019 – Local naturalist, writer and photographer, Rick Marsi will be presenting his program on ‘The Mystery of Migration’ Migration. The word alone transports us to faraway places. In this program, featuring Rick’s award-winning photos, the focus is on migrants Southern Tier residents can see on their local rivers and lakes, observe overhead and encounter on a walk through the forest. Where are these birds coming from? Where are they headed? Which ones will stop here and spend the winter or breeding season? And what about other creatures – frogs, salamanders, butterflies and dragonflies? Do they migrate? Find out all the answers in this new and informative program.

Rick’s Bio and samples of his talks can be found on his website at: <http://www.rickmarsi.com/>

Cost: TRPC Members No COST - Non-Members $5.00

March 2, 2019 – Fine Art Photography and Educator JW Johnston will be presenting ‘My Photography from Outside In; Life Lessons Learned With a Camera’. Enjoy confession and inspiration from JW Johnston as he tells the autobiographical tale of how a chain-smoking, adrenaline-fueled broadcast journalist became a fine art photographer and teacher. JW shares his aesthetic and technical approaches when making photographs. There might even be a few laughs. And yes, there will be plenty of pictures, some good and some... not so good. Don’t be surprised if there’s a sneak preview of JW’s first major solo exhibition of new work in more than a decade. Read JW Johnston Bio and enjoy his
